

„The Miller's Tale“

And the two friends went home
No need for words, they are as one
And now summer's over
The light on the fields grows older